

Kruisherengang  (speaker hotel)

Kruisherengang 19-23, 6211 NW Maastricht

Situated in the centre of Maastricht is the former Kruisherengang (Crutched Friar) cloister, dating from the fifteenth century. Together with the monumental gothic church, this complex has been transformed into a very special designer hotel. It is a unique place, in which antiquity and modern design are interwoven; yet, at the same time, architectural contrasts between the past and the present are very clear.

The internationally renowned interior designer Henk Vos has created the interior. Every one of the 60 hotel rooms has its own individual contemporary character. The basic principles are transparency, space, modernity and comfort. Throughout the complex, use has been made of the notable designs of masters such as Le Corbusier and Rietveld as well as modern designers like Marc Nemson, Piet Heyn Eeck, Philippe Starck and Roderick Vos.

Hotel Pastis

Luikerweg 1, 6212 ET Maastricht

An attractive hotel with a limited amount of seven rooms, a very personal service and a pleasant atmosphere. The hotel opened its doors on July 1. It is situated in a tastefully transformed ancient building. Pastis is located in the "Sint Pieter" district, at the foot of the "St Pietersberg" (Saint Peter's hill) and the fortress of Sint Pieter. This is distant enough from the bustle of the historic city centre but only a five minute walk from pulling up a chair at the bistro where it smells so good, burning a candle at the "Onze Lieve Vrouwe Basiliek" (Cathedral of Our Lady), having yourself done out of a couple of euros in one of the numerous bazaars or from throwing yourself in a chair on a pavement. If you're rather into silence, green and panorama, then walk into the opposite direction. The top of the St Pietersberg is the starting point of an exceptional nature reserve. Parking in the direct environment of the hotel is free of charge.
